

WILL GO TO OFFICERS' CAMP

Two Young Men From This City Receive Appointment While in Training

Guy W. Rogers and Frank Patterson, Jr., who had been with the training detachment at the Brenan school in Chicago since July 15, on Monday received a call to report for training at the officers' school at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia, and left Chicago at nine o'clock this morning over the Big Four road for their destination.

These two young men, together with Herman Menzel of this city, answered the call for volunteers from Portage county for mechanical training and were assigned to the Brenan school, arriving there on the morning of the 15th. Soon after their arrival all three were appointed sergeants, Mr. Rogers being made first sergeant and was assigned to clerical work in the office a good share of the time. A little later the Portage county men were again honored by the captain when he informed them that he had recommended them for the officers' training school, although at the time he made his selection he was not aware of the fact, or did not realize that he had chosen three from the same county.

On Monday the call came for the machine gun officers' training school, and Messrs. Rogers and Patterson, who had expressed a preference for this branch of the service, prepared to report on the 15th. Mr. Menzel will undoubtedly be assigned to the infantry officers' training school.

Mr. Rogers and Mr. Patterson left Chicago Monday night and came to their homes in this city, where they enjoyed a short turlough until the following afternoon.

ON IMPORTANT COMMITTEE

Mrs. D. J. Leahy will spend Thursday at Chippewa Falls, where she goes to meet the state president of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs, Mrs. L. D. Harvey of Menomonie, in connection with club work. Mrs. Leahy was recently honored by being appointed on the state nominating committee.

CONVENTION AT MADISON

Miss Marion Bannach, county superintendent of schools, spent Monday and Tuesday at Madison, going down to attend an annual gathering of superintendents and supervising teachers. Miss Cora Doxrode, who fills the latter position in Portage county, is also attending the Madison meeting and will remain until later in the week.

PASTOR VOLUNTEERS

Rev. M. P. McClure, formerly of this city, joins Y. M. C. A. forces and awaits call.

Rev. Marcus P. McClure, a former pastor of the local Presbyterian church, has volunteered his services to the Y. M. C. A. for overseas duty and expects soon to leave Hollywood, California, for France, close up to the battle front.

Rev. McClure filled the pastorate here for a couple of years just prior to the coming of Rev. John A. Stemen, and from here went to Council Bluffs, Iowa. He has been located at Hollywood, Cal., for the past several years and Holly Leaves, a weekly paper published at Hollywood, has the following to say regarding Mr. McClure:

"Dr. McClure has just finished a four months' service at Camp Kearney, part of the time as camp pastor under the direction of the Presbyterian denomination and part of the time as a member of the Y. M. C. A. forces. He returned the middle of last week, clad in khaki, bronzed by the outdoor life and eager for further service. At that time he expected that the call would come at once and that he would be leaving this week for the scene of his future labors. But later advice came to the effect that all Pacific Coast Y. M. C. A. men were to be held here for several weeks owing to a congestion in the transport service. This gave him a welcome opportunity to make preparations for the long separation from the church and will enable the church to make plans for carrying on its work in his absence."

"Dr. McClure's going is with the full consent of the church officials and the pastorate will be held open for his return after the war is won. That is the attitude of the governing body of the church and will doubtless be of the congregation, which will be asked for an expression in the matter at Dr. McClure's request, since he does not wish to bind the church in any way in his absence if it is felt by the people that another pastor should be called. There is no likelihood of such a feeling, however, according to those who understand the patriotic fervor of the congregation, which will take pride in having its pastor with the fighting boys at the front."

"But an acting pastor will be engaged to take the pulpit and other ministerial work while Dr. McClure is away."

"Dr. McClure's son, Donald, is also so joined the colors, having taken his departure this week for Fort McDevitt. He is only two years old and leaves his university course at Harvard half finished. In the absence of the men of the family in the service Mrs. McClure plans to spend a part of the year at least with their daughter, Miss Kathryn, who goes to the state university at Berkeley in the fall."

PICNIC AT PLOVER

A picnic is being arranged to be given by St. Bronislawa's Polish congregation on the school grounds adjoining the church in Plover on Sunday, Aug. 18th. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church. All kinds of amusements are on the program and music will be furnished by a first-class orchestra. Besides the regular refreshments, consisting of soft drinks and ice-cream, a dinner and supper will be served to the public. The committee in charge extends a hearty welcome to the general public to attend the picnic.

RETURNING FROM CANADA

Jos. F. Prodzinski, former head clerk in the McCulloch Co. grocery department, is expected here from Canada within a few days and it is safe to assume that his future habitation will be under the stars and stripes. Joseph with his wife and little daughter left early last spring for Macklin, Saskatchewan, where he purchased a garage and engaged in the automobile business. During the average season that country is quite prosperous, but a heavy frost visited that section a few weeks ago and practically destroyed the growing crops. The yield would have been light under ordinary conditions through lack of moisture, but the visit of King Frost acted as a final destroyer.

Mr. Prodzinski has succeeded in disposing of his business interests in the Canadian province.

BUNCH OF RECRUITS

Young Men From City and County Leave for Naval Station Last Thursday night

L. H. Helmer, naval recruiting officer, spent last Thursday in this city and "signed up" a company of ten young men, all of whom left for Milwaukee that night to take the required physical examination and then if they passed expected to be sent to the training station at Great Lakes, Ill.

Those in the party who went to Milwaukee Thursday night were:

- John Anton Busa, 807 West street, city.
- Conrad Joseph Dorscheid, 312 Fremont street, city.
- Casimir Stanke, Chicago.
- Eugene Emmet Spaid, 124 Madison street, city.
- Robert Gordon Card, 4004 Main street, city.
- Joseph John Shippey, 825 N. Third street, city.
- George Waldemar Law, city.
- Howard Ellsworth King, Poplar, Montana.
- Frederick M. Manley, Bancroft.

Nine of the boys succeeded in passing the physical test, Casimir Stanke being the only one found deficient. All returned here later in the week to await orders to report for duty which came yesterday and they boarded the afternoon train for Great Lakes.

PICNIC AT LANARK

A Red Cross picnic will be held in the Loftis grove at Lanark, Aug. 18. A 25 cent dinner will be served by the ladies. A good ball game and a program is now being prepared for the day. A cordial invitation is extended to all to arrange to spend the 18th at Lanark.

INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION

Rev. S. A. Elbert returned Friday morning from Duluth, where he attended the international convention Catholic Order of Foresters as one of the Wisconsin delegation. Representatives of the society were present from all parts of the United States and the several provinces of Canada, Illinois sending a delegation of sixty. Gustave Keller of Appleton was re-elected as high treasurer. T. H. Cannon and Thos. McDonald of Chicago were again chosen as high chief ranger and secretary, respectively.

Besides transacting a large amount of business, the visitors also found time for social diversions, which included automobile and boat rides to various points of interest in and near that city.

SOY BEAN EXPERT

Department of Agriculture Man to Give Talks in Portage County on Thursday and Friday

Prof. H. W. Ullsperger of Madison College of Agriculture will devote the next two days to work in Portage county, holding field meet for the purpose of interesting more of our farmers in the cultivation of soy beans.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning Mr. Ullsperger will be at Chas. Manley's farm near Bancroft and in the afternoon at Martin Wiora's place at Belmont, town of Belmont.

On Friday morning he hopes to meet a large assembly at Hiram Smith's in Plover and that afternoon will be at the farm of Wm. Gaulke, town of Grant.

Soy beans can be raised on almost any class of soil and a big yield is usually certain. It has many advantages over other crops and it will be well worth anyone's time to listen to Mr. Ullsperger during his tour through the county this week.

CAMP CLEGHORN MEET

Ten Day Session Closes Sunday Evening—Stevens Pointers on Program

What was in many respects the most successful meeting of Camp Cleghorn assembly came to a close at Waupaca lakes last Sunday evening, the final session being in charge of the newly elected president, J. E. Cristy of Waupaca. These annual gatherings cover ten day periods, including two Sundays, and fortunately the weather man was exceptionally kind on both Sundays this year.

During the afternoon of Aug. 4th it was estimated that four hundred automobiles were parked on the grounds and that the people numbered fully 2,000. Last Sunday's attendance broke all records, the gathering being conservatively estimated at 3,000, while the automobiles and horse drawn vehicles covered so much territory that it was impossible to make even an approximate guess as to their number.

One of the really enjoyable entertainments under the auspices of Camp Cleghorn Association, and which was attended by the largest audience up to that time, was given Friday evening by Miss Helen Hudson of this city, assisted by another Stevens Point young lady, Miss Helen Collins, as accompanist. Miss Hudson gathered further laurels as a reader and elocutionist. She presented a varied program and as a fitting finale to the evening's entertainment recited a patriotic selection.

"The Jolly Six," a crowd of Stevens Point girls whose number was increased late in the week to nine, returned home Monday after enjoying ten days of tent life. Those in the party were Irene, Ruth and Ida Scribner, Laura and Bernice Martin, Jessie Johnson, Esther and Anna Benson and Clara Wilhelm, the latter of Marshfield.

The dedication of a service flag containing seventeen stars took place Saturday evening when a straight-from-the-shoulder patriotic talk was given by C. W. Frazier of Menominee Falls. Stars were placed on the flag in honor of sons of stockholders in Camp Cleghorn Association who have answered their country's call, one of whom is Paul F. Collins of this city, now a lieutenant in the aviation service and who is instructing cadet flyers at Allington Field, Houston, Texas.

RED CROSS PICNIC

A Red Cross picnic will be held at Fred Rice's grove, town of Pine Grove, next Sunday, Aug. 18th, when ice cream and other light refreshments will be served. Patriotic talks will be given by Capt. C. S. Orthman of this city and several other good speakers. The other attractions will include music by the Bancroft band and a good game of base ball. If you are looking for a pleasant day's outing, attend this picnic.

IS REPORTED MISSING

Fate of John E. Firkus Still Uncertain—May Have Been Taken Prisoner By Germans

Word was received here late last Friday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Anton Firkus, 408 Portage street, that their son, John E. Firkus, a private in the 345th infantry, 87th division, was reported missing in action July 18. No further official information has been received by his relatives to date, and it is probable that it will be months before his fate is known.

It is likely that if he took part on the first day of the counter-offensive, following the German attack on the Marne, he may have been taken a prisoner because the ground on which the attack occurred was taken by the Allied troops, and if he were killed, he would probably have been identified.

He was among the men who were sent from Portage county in the second contingent, October 4, going to Camp Grant. From there he was sent to Little Rock, Ark., and later to Long Island prior to sailing for France. Word of his safe arrival in France was received here on June 1st, but since that time nothing had been heard from him.

He was twenty-three years of age last June 4, and was born at Ellis, this county. Most of his life was spent in Stevens Point until a few years ago, when he went to Milwaukee and attended a brewers' school, after which he was employed as brewmaster at Kewaunee and Chilton until called into service. Besides his parents he has eleven brothers and sisters, all at home. A brother, Leo, leaves tomorrow for Kansas City to receive training as an auto mechanic.

BUYS POLK COUNTY FARM

William Holland, for two years a ranchman in the Portage county drainage district but who disposed of his property last season and has since been living in the town of Plover, is about to move to Polk county, having bought a farm of 80 acres eight miles east of St. Croix Falls. He and $25,000 for the property and claims that it is a bargain. The buildings include a good house of two stories, a barn 40x100 feet, first-class garage and other structures.

Mr. Holland expects to move his family to western Wisconsin in about three weeks.

THE FAIR NEXT WEEK

Biggest and Best Event Ever Held in Stevens Point—Dates Are Aug. 20 to 23

Officers of the Stevens Point Fair Association venture the prediction that next week's annual event will be the best ever. The 1918 fair opens next Tuesday morning, Aug. 20th, and continues until Friday evening. Races are booked for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, when the highest field of horses ever brought to Stevens Point will start in the various events. The only concern of Supt. of Speed Hussin and his assistants is the question of providing sufficient stable room for the steppers, as the entries show that present quarters are far too small. However, Mr. Hussin has a will to furnish the required room, and will find a way. All who enjoy good races are assured that their desires will be gratified here next week.

The live stock exhibit looks almost as favorable, many owners of fancy cattle and horses in this and other counties having already applied for space. There promises to be a better showing of sheep than for many years in the past. Geo. Philippi of Welcome, Wis., will send a car load and another car is coming from the Brodgen farm at Rusk Lake, Wis., owned by Thos. Brodgen. This stock is all registered and will attract much favorable criticism. It is also hoped that more Portage county farmers may get an incentive to engage in this highly profitable industry.

Other departments of the fair promise to make showings that will be of equal merit.

The track is being put in first class shape, the fences repaired, new toilet facilities installed on the grounds and substantial improvements made to the buildings. The park board has ordered a new roof on agricultural hall, work on which has already been commenced.

The abundance of free attractions include a miniature battleship manned by Jackies from Great Lakes, Ill., a sham battle between state guards from Grand Rapids and Stevens Point, music by bands representing the two latter named cities, and acts by professionals especially brought here for the week.

"Something doing every minute" may be accepted as one of the slogans for the "Win the War" fair to be held in Stevens Point Aug. 20th to 23d. If the weather man is kind, thousands of people will attend each day and all are assured of getting their money's worth.

COUNTY'S QUOTA THREE

Limited service men to the number of eighty-two from Wisconsin will be called in the five-day period beginning Aug. 17, to be sent to Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich. Portage county's quota is three men, but they have not yet been assigned. The call is for four painters, twelve chauffeurs and sixty-six laborers.

GO TO JEFFERSON BARRACKS

The list of ten men who were sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., last Thursday night was changed slightly from that published last week and when the contingent left here was composed of eight farmers and two men from this city, as follows:

- Gunner Olaf Berg, Junction City, R. 1.
- Joseph Malek, Polonia.
- Barney J. Wolosek, Plover, R. 2.
- Arthur J. Everson, Manawa, R. 3.
- Dominick Shudy, Stevens Point, R. 7.
- Barney Rikowski, Amherst.
- Joseph H. Moss, East Troy.
- James E. Mallum, Rosholt.
- Wm. E. Wollenschlager, Stevens Point.
- Anton A. Lewandowski, Stevens Point.

RURAL OBSERVATION SCHOOLS

The Normal has perfected arrangements with the school board at the power plant on the Jordan river to use that school as one of the two Observation schools for the coming year. Miss Mary Matedfsky, who taught in the Observation school so successfully at Casimir, will be in charge. The teachers will be operated in connection with it.

These schools enable students of our rural department to see skillful work, and to do themselves practice work in a school of exactly the same kind as those in which they themselves are destined to teach.

The Observation school just north of the city limits will be conducted along the same lines as last year, in charge of Miss Alice Gordon, formerly county supervisory teacher.

NEW MEMBERS OF FACULTY

Miss Bertha New, now employed as stenographer in the office of the American Society of Equity at Madison, has been engaged as clerk in the office of Professor Hyatt, principal of the Normal training school.

Miss Clara Eliza Macomber has been employed as assistant in the normal training. Miss Jones has been signed. Miss F. is a graduate of the Macomber Normal and has been employed as physical training department of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. She is competent to teach in the school as well as physical training and has done much work in chautauquas.

Both of these young women come highly recommended, and hopefully will make a success of their work in this larger field.

BAND CONCERT

At the weekly concert given at the court house square, the program for Thursday evening, Aug. 15, will be as follows:

- March—On to Berlin—Weber
- Overture—American Triumph—Hazel
- Selection—Operatic Melodies—Tobani
- Baritone Solo—Sing Me The Rosary—Klickman.
- (Claude Eagleburger)
- Medley—Latest Songs—Witmark.
- March—America First—Losey.
- Finale—Star Spangled Banner—Key.

GOES TO NASHVILLE

Wilbur Whitney came down from Rothschild last Thursday and visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Whitney, 937 Normal avenue, until Tuesday morning, when he left for Nashville, Tenn., to engage in civilian government service.

Mr. Whitney is an electrician and for the past several years has been employed by the Marathon Paper Company at Rothschild. An opportunity arising to do civilian service, he accepted a position in a new powder plant recently erected by the federal government about 18 miles from Nashville. His family will remain at Rothschild for a month at least, and then if Mr. Whitney finds conditions satisfactory, they will join him.

NOTABLES WILL COME

Interesting Programs Being Arranged for Rural Education and Country Life Conference

The Rural Education and Country Life Conference which will be held at the Stevens Point Normal September 22 to 25, is national in its scope, practical and uplifting in its purpose and inspiring in its suggestions. These dates will long be remembered by the local Normal school and by those citizens of Wisconsin who hold the belief that the rural girl and boy are entitled to the same educational advantages as the city girl and boy.

Sunday, Sept. 22, will be given over to a discussion of the Country Church and the Country Sunday School as factors in the promotion of rural education, under the direction of Warren H. Wilson of New York City. All pastors and superintendents of Sunday schools whose congregations or students reside in the country will go home from this with an enthusiasm and ambition to do more and better for the uplift of the country boy, girl and home. It will be appreciated if the Portage county people interested in this phase of education will give the conference all possible publicity.

Monday, September 23, will be "Wisconsin Day" when Supt. C. P. Cary, Rural School Inspector W. E. Larson, Supt. A. M. Arveson, Prin. M. H. Jackson, Zona Gale, Prof. O. W. Neale, and many other leaders in Rural Education from the Badger State will speak on Wisconsin's efforts, achievements and ideals in this great field. On this day the Portage County School Board Convention will be in session, giving the delegates an opportunity to witness at first hand the proceedings of the conventions which have played so important a part in increasing the effectiveness of the rural school by arousing a wholesome community interest in it.

On Tuesday evening the citizens of Stevens Point will cooperate with the faculty and students of the Normal school in presenting the drama "To Arms For Liberty." This will be staged on the suggestion of U. S. Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, who will be present if war emergencies do not detain him in Washington.

The program of Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to the discussion of Rural Education and Country Life problems by speakers from other states. The Director of the Conference is J. L. McBrien of Washington, the School Extension Agent of the U. S. Bureau of Education.

The public is cordially invited to the meetings, all of which will be held in the Stevens Point Normal building.

JUNIOR CLUB TO MEET

On Friday of next week there will be a meeting of the Junior clubs of Portage county, to be held at the fair grounds, when a speaker from the agricultural college at Madison will deliver an address. All who enroll with County Agent Coyner on or before next Monday will be given a ticket for the meeting on Aug. 23d.

Members of the various calf and canning clubs and others who may wish to join are requested to heed this information.

THREE ROUSING SPEECHES

Republican Candidates for State and National Offices to Talk at Old Settlers' Picnic

All who enjoy good speaking are assured of entertainment and instruction at the old Settlers' picnic, to be held at Lake Emily tomorrow, Aug. 16th. Addresses have been received from R. P. Wilcox, Republican candidate for governor, M. Elbertson, U. S. senator from the 8th district, and J. C. Hall, who is seeking the Republican nomination for state senator. Each and all are able to deliver messages of inspiration.

A social program has been prepared and many other features will keep the crowd interested during the entire day.

If you or your neighbor has a horse or car, use it tomorrow in a trip to Lake Emily.

STUDENTS CALL TO NATIONAL COLORS

Military Training May Be Established At Stevens Point Normal If Required Number Enlist

President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker, with clear vision and full appreciation of the imperative necessity of men of large calibre, strong, true, and capable—to solve the problems of reconstruction, in which the United States must play a leading part, are urging Normal School and College students to serve their country by remaining in school until they are needed elsewhere.

To serve this purpose young men can enlist in September on returning to or entering the Normal school and serve in the Students' Army Training Corps, thus placing them definitely in the military service. To organize such a course in any school the government requires 100 young men, High school graduates or the equivalent, who will enlist, in which case an instructor from the United States army will be sent to give the military instruction.

Regular uniforms, including hats, shoes and overcoat will be furnished all members of the Students' Army Training Corps by the Government.

A student enlisted in the Students' Army Training Corps is in military service of the United States. Because he does not receive pay, he is classed as an inactive service but in a national emergency the President may call him at any time to active service. He is called to active service each summer when he attends camp for six weeks and receives the pay of a private.

The final determination of the status of such students in relation to the draft will rest with a committee of the war department, whose instructions are definite, specific and made with reference to the needs of the country during the war.

When the student soldier reaches the draft age he automatically becomes subject to registration in the district the President directs. The student is registered in class 5D and will not be called into service while he remains in the Students' Army Training Corps. But when the day arrives when the students' order number is reached the fact is reported to the school president, the commanding officer and to the Adjutant General. A report is then made upon the student's record in military training, scholarship, discipline, industry, attention to and discharge of duty, and put in the hands of the War Department's Committee on Education and Social Training with the recommendation that he be called at once to an army camp, to an officers' training camp, or be permitted to complete his college training by transfer to the enlisted reserve corps.

The students' War Service Campaign under the direction of the American Council of Education in this interest is national wide in its scope, intensive in its methods and highly patriotic in its purpose.

The experience of England and Germany in closing their higher institutions of learning during the opening years of the war, as well as what poor pitiable Russia resting under a cloud of illiteracy has revealed—all teach us that brain power is needed in this crisis as well as man power.

The local Normal opens wide its doors to young men who heed the country's call to service by combining military training with preparation through education for the solution of the big after war problems.

The Stevens Point Normal offers a wide choice of courses to young men who wish to be ready for the big after war problems. Normal courses are offered preparing for public school work, as teachers in the rural schools, state graded and city schools and high schools. Also thorough courses preparing for principalships and superintendencies. Besides the Normal courses the Stevens Point Normal offers the first two years of college work in the following lines: Agriculture, commerce, journalism, pre-medical, pre-law, engineering and letters and science.

Parents of young men who will probably be called to service under the proposed draft legislation will naturally be interested in keeping their boys as near home as is permissible, consistent with the basic duty to the country. The War Department is urging young men to take advantage of this opportunity to secure military training and educational advantages at the same time. The new form of national service is, therefore, being called to the attention of young men and of all of their parents and others who may be interested.

STATE OFFICIAL HERE

Miss Elizabeth Amey, of the State House, U. S. department of the Missouri university, is spending a few days in Portage county, where she has been invited to the normal training school at Stevens Point.

Wesley, a student of the Normal, has been elected to the position of president of the Portage county Normal association. He will be present at the normal training school at Stevens Point, where he will be the guest of the normal training school.

Next week a number of girls will be sent to the state contest at Milwaukee. This larger contest takes place during the week of the state fair.

BOLT STRIKES CHURCH

Episcopal Edifice Hit During Storm Last Monday Morning—Slight Damage Done

Damage which may amount to a few hundred dollars was done to the Episcopal Church of the Intercession last Monday morning at 6 o'clock when it was struck by lightning. It would appear that the bolt struck an electric light wire near the corner of Church and Clark streets, ruining the transformer, ran along the wire until it came to the north stone wall and then followed the metal strands into the church, coming out through a window in the vestibule.

In its flight through the basement some nine fuses were blown out, but the greatest damage was caused by shattering three stained glass windows in the tower. The floor above the vestibule or main entrance was ripped up and fragments of stone broken off. The lower part of one window sill was made into kindling wood, a large chunk of which was hurled clear across the street.

Several lights were put out of commission and the fixtures bent and twisted. A quantity of plaster was knocked off the vestibule ceiling and more of it loosened.

The electric wires are enclosed in metal piping, otherwise it is almost absolutely certain that fire would have resulted and possible destroyed the building.

Regular services will not be interrupted and whatever damage is done is covered by insurance.

BEEF UNRESTRICTED

County Food Administrator J. M. Pfiffner on Monday received a telegram from Madison raising the restrictions on beef, as follows:

All restrictions on use of beef in public eating places and in homes are hereby withdrawn. Beef may now be eaten in any form every day in the week and at every meal.

TEACHERS AT UNIVERSITIES

The faculty of the Stevens Point Normal school believe in learning while they teach. Taking advantage of the summer vacation many have again become students of various universities throughout the country.

At the University of Columbia there are 31 Wisconsin people enrolled, 14 of whom are either graduates of or teachers in the local Normal school. Miss Bessie M. Allen, head of the home economics department, and Miss Esther Lagergren are the teachers attending from here.

The Misses Elith Whitney, Prudence Cutright, Bertha Hussey, Lulu Mansur, Mae Killeu and Winifred Nelson are attending the summer session of the University of Chicago.

H. R. Steiner secured his degree from the University of Wisconsin during the midyear term. Twenty-three students of the Normal also attended school at Madison.

Stefen Miller, now in the dining car service of the Northwestern road, running between Chicago and Milwaukee, spent most of last week in this city visiting his father, M. G. Miller.

PAPER MILL HIGHWAY

Tax Payer Criticizes Construction of Concrete Highway—Overseer Should Have Been Employed

Having heard so much comment and discussion of late in regard to the construction of the new concrete road leading from the lower paper mill to Church street in the city of Stevens Point, a distance of two miles, more or less, the writer recently had occasion to go over the entire route on an inspection trip and ventures to give his opinion in regard to the proper construction of the line as now constructed.

After a careful inspection, I found many defects that never can be remedied. I found the following errors at the lower paper mill: A cut is made in the road of a concrete bridge that could have been avoided; the two bridges crossing the river should have been raised and reinforced with concrete, in order to have a continuous line of concrete across those bridges.

The railroad tracks should have been raised somewhat in order to place the concrete higher along where said line crosses the tracks leading to the paper mills. The alignment and approaches to the bridges are very poor, not any one of them a perfect curve, all merely angles. I found at the top of the hill, between the two mills, another mistake, which is an error in location. A cut is made nearly where the old road was and the grade of the present concrete road is about the same as the old road. This place is surely a death trap for someone. The proper location of the line should have been east, enough to straighten the line, putting it on a gradually uniform curve, and making a deeper cut, which would have made more filling to be used in the river bottom and lessened the grade, and also would have placed the concrete road away from the river which is another bad place that could have been avoided.

The crossing of the paper mill tracks at the upper mill should have been made on a straight line, not following the old road, as it does at present. Then, where the Sanatorium road crosses the new concrete road, the latter comes up and intersects the Sanatorium road leading to McDill, then it turns a right angle, runs west on the Sanatorium road about 200 feet, then turns north on the city road with another right angle, which could have been avoided by putting in two light reverse curves, which would have made a perfectly easy line. There was no reason for following the old road, as the company owns the land on both sides. The next mistake in alignment is the crossing of the Green Bay R. R. tracks. The new concrete road has two angles, not curves, one angle to the east to cross the tracks, another to the west to get back on line of intersection. This line should have been straight, or a tangent line for many reasons. One reason is that a long crossing is easier than acute crossings, and another reason that it makes a better appearance of the line and in getting on and over the railroad track. There is no excuse for this location, as a tangent or straight line could have been used in getting across this track, as the line from the south could have been laid so as to cross the railroad track on a straight line without buying additional right of way from anyone. Another bad feature is the first angle after crossing the railroad going north. By placing the line farther west, putting in a uniform curve would overcome the chances for accidents, which may occur on the present location.

In closing my remarks, I shall state that my conclusion is that the present location is a failure. First the grade line is not drawn where it should be, there is too much fill in some places and not a proper distribution of the earth. There is not a curve on the whole line properly laid out, concrete culverts are placed where no water will get through them, and vitrified pipe would have been better on account of its cost and would have reduced the cost of construction. So many autoists have been looking forward to the time of the completion of this road, as well as the paper mill people, believing they would have the most beautiful drive in the state, and now to go over a line where it will be necessary to carry a flagman for safety, their hopes have all vanished.

The road, as the writer understands, cost in round numbers $42,000 of the people's money, which amount would construct a first class line of railroad for the same distance.

The writer believes that the concrete work is good, as the contractor had the best material to make his concrete with, and if the cement, as tested, and proper proportions of sand and gravel were used, there can be no mistake. Taken as a whole, the city and town officers are to blame, not having been particular enough in employing men to take charge of work of that magnitude. Anybody that comes along will be employed, if competent or not, to take charge of a $42,000 construction job and spend the people's money, put the city under heavy taxes and get out the idea of a 15 ft. concrete road with sand shoulders and constructed with right angle turns, with scarcely any crown on the surface, and the outside of all curves or angles not being elevated to insure the centrifugal force of an auto going around the circle. Something is surely wrong.

TWO SONS IN SERVICE

Geo. DeLong, for many years engaged in the transfer business here but who went to Brookfield a couple of years ago and has since been a successful farmer, has two small sons, Fred and John. Fred is a member of the U. S. Army and is now in the service. Two of Mr. DeLong's sons are in the army service, Fred being now in France and John DeLong was stationed at a Georgia training camp when last heard from.

MUST REMAIN IN U. S.

Failure to Pass Eye Test Unfits Stevens Point Young Man For Overseas Service

A letter from Chris T. Burns, who is stationed at Camp Hancock, Ga., brings the information, disappointing to him, that he has not passed the physical test, which fits him for overseas service, and that he will, therefore, undoubtedly remain in the service in this country during the duration of the war. He writes:

"Will you kindly change my mailing address to the 62nd Co., M. T. D., same camp (Hancock, Augusta, Ga.) to which I was recently transferred?"

"Our company (old) is fast dwindling down, many being sent to various camps. I don't as yet know to what kind of work I shall be assigned, but I understand that I have been found unfit for overseas duty and will be kept here for special work. I failed again to pass the requirements necessary in the eye test, so I am assigned to stay here permanently until the close of the war."

"I am getting on famously and am not altogether discouraged, although I am heartily disappointed to be kept from going overseas. But then I am going to do my best in whatever they give me to do."

"It is rather common to run across friends and former acquaintances down here and it is happening every day."

"I took a rather unique examination the other day. It is known as the psychological test and I must say that my newspaper experience came in real handy, for it was an examination calling for memory, following direction and a general knowledge of things. I received the high grading of 'very superior,' but it didn't help me to pass the overseas physical exam."

"The Gazette never looked so good to me as it does on arriving here. I usually receive it on Mondays."

GLIMPSES INTO PAST

Happenings Mentioned in The Gazette Twenty-five and Ten Years Ago This Week

Twenty-Five Years Ago
(Aug. 16, 1893)

F. E. Bosworth and Price Road started for Chicago Monday morning on their wheels, where they will take in the World's Fair sights.

Ernest Anschutz, foreman at the Rice machine shops, has purchased the residence property on Main street just west of H. E. Martin's home.

Amherst—Prof. Jas. S. Denning of Fairfax, Minn., and Miss Alice E. Guernsey were married at the residence of the bride's father, Dr. A. H. Guernsey, in Amherst on Monday, Aug. 14th.

John W. Hume, president, W. D. Parker, secretary and F. P. Ainsworth and Ira A. Hill, all members of the board of regents of Normal schools, spent yesterday in the city, and together with Regent Park decided upon the location for the sixth Normal school. The site selected is the E. D. Brown property on Main street, together with the N. Beyington tract, adjoining on the north.

A number of our wheelmen were out on parade on Monday evening, their wheels being decorated with lighted Chinese lanterns, large and small, and the display was a very pretty one. They will be out again on Friday evening of this week, meeting at the liberty pole at 8 o'clock. Every rider in the city, both ladies and gentlemen, is invited to take part and make the occasion a memorable one. Come with lanterns.

Ten Years Ago

(Aug. 12, 1908)

The tenth anniversary of the establishment of St. Paul's German Lutheran church in this city was fittingly observed last Sunday.

Orin Parmeter, Jr., has purchased the Central City Pharmacy, conducted for several years by W. F. Voigt at the corner of Church and Monroe streets.

Harry Isherwood passed away at the family home on St. Louis avenue last Friday afternoon, aged 61 years. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

John Bergholte, father of Alex and Henry Bergholte of this city, died at the home of another son, John F., in the village of Amherst last Sunday morning.

John W. Archibald died at Mayo Bros. hospital, Rochester, Minn., on Sunday evening. He was a little over 47 years of age. His wife and two sisters survive him.

Five young Stevens Pointers, Alfred Baker, Judd Bigelow, Roy Cashin, Carl Moeschler and George Glendon, left at four o'clock yesterday morning for a tramp to Milwaukee. They will cover from 15 to 20 miles per day, and after reaching Milwaukee will return home by train.

CIRCUS IS OVER

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus is a thing of the past as far as this city is concerned. In spite of the disastrous wreck of June 21, in which many of its performers were killed or injured, the circus people were able to present a very good show to large and appreciative audiences last Thursday afternoon and evening. The day was not at all favorable for the circus but many people from outside the city were here.

SEAMEN VISIT HOME

Arthur Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bass, 427 Prairie street, came home from Great Lakes Training camp on a ten days' furlough. His brother, Carl Bass, who was expected to meet here, was there, but did not report for duty on the U. S. S. Albatross on Aug. 9 and so the brothers did not see each other. Arthur Bass has been in the service two months. He is a second class seaman.

RECRUITING LABORERS

Local Mayor Directed to Advise of Centralization of Employment for War Industries

I have been requested by the Director General of the Department of Labor to advise all laborers that on and after August 1st the supplying of war industries with common labor will be centralized in the U. S. Employment Service, and all independent recruiting of common labor by manufacturers having a payroll of more than 100 men will be diverted to the U. S. Employment Service. That this restriction at the present time applies only to common labor, but will as soon as possible be extended to include skilled labor.

That while non-essential industries will be drawn upon to supply the necessary labor for war work, the withdrawal will be conducted on an equitable basis in order to protect the individual employer as much as possible.

Under the operating methods adopted, the country has been divided into thirteen districts, each district in charge of a superintendent. The States within each district are in turn in charge of a State Director, who has full control of the service within his State. That there will be formed in each community a local community board, which board will have jurisdiction over recruiting and distributing labor in its locality.

The requirement that unskilled labor must be recruited through the sole agency of the U. S. Employment Service does not at present apply in the following five cases:

1. Labor which is not directly or indirectly solicited.
2. Labor for the railroads.
3. Farm labor—to be recruited in accordance with existing arrangements with Department of Agriculture.
4. Labor for non-war work.
5. Labor for establishments whose maximum force does not exceed one hundred.

A survey of labor requirements is being made and when the aggregate demand for unskilled labor in war work is found, each State will be assigned a quota, representing the common labor to be drawn from among men engaged in non-essential industries in that State.

The object is to keep any community from being drained of labor, and to use local supply, as far as possible, for local demand. The situation, however, is such that in certain cases some men may have to be transported over long distances.

The necessity for this action has arisen by reason of the great shifting of labor from one city to another. It being found that men are being transported from cities like Detroit to Pittsburgh for labor, and in turn from Pittsburgh to Detroit for labor.

The Government asks that the support of this plan be given the hearty support of each community.

Respectfully submitted,
W. F. Owen, Mayor.

WAKEFIELDS IN SERVICE

The pleasing information has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Wakefield of this city that their son, Roy Wakefield, has recently been promoted to the rank of sergeant major. He is serving in the quartermaster's department at Camp Lewis, Washington, having been inducted into the service in California. Another son of Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield, Charles T. Wakefield, who joined the engineering corps in Oklahoma, was at Camp Dix, Trenton, N. J., when last heard from and was with Co. E, 26th Engineers. He is expected to be sent overseas at any time.

To the Voters of the 23rd Senatorial District—Portage and Waupaca Counties.

In considering the candidates before you, for the office of State Senator, there seems to be no question to be settled but the question of right and privilege and fitness for the position, there being no other issue between us.

This question must be answered by the voters at the primary election to be held on the 3rd day of September, 1918.

The broad and determined stand which I have always taken in my demand for economical government, and a recognition of the equal rights and privileges of the producing masses, is well and favorably known to all, and by reason of my extended study and experience in affairs concerning both State and Nation, I feel myself capable of acting intelligently, promptly and consistently in considering the intricate problems which must, of necessity, be solved during the general preparation for the reconstruction period which will follow the day of victory in the present war. I trust that I may have your hearty, active and outspoken support.

Thanking you for your kindly consideration, I am,

Fraternally yours,
Don C. Hall.

HEAD OF BIG CREAMERY

Among the many Stevens Point boys who have made good in various parts of the country is Fred Wright, now a resident of Green Bay, where he is manager for the Fairmont Creamery Co., said to be the largest manufacturers of butter in the world. Fred spent last Thursday in Stevens Point on a business trip and also found time to greet many friends, most of whom he had not seen since he left here twenty years ago.

FOND DU LAC MAJOR KILLED

The first major in Wisconsin to give his life in conflict with the Hun was Major A. M. Trier of Fond du Lac, who was killed in action in France on July 30. He is believed to have met his death in the great battle around Fismes, in which the 32nd division, in which he commanded a battalion of the 127th infantry, won high praise for gallantry in defeating the crack Prussian guards, which had tried to stem the American advance in the Aisne-Marne front. Major Trier was a former captain of old Company E of Fond du Lac.

News From Far-Away France of Local and General Interest

A copy of a letter written by Chas. E. McCreedy to the Milwaukee firm with which he was connected before leaving for the service as an ambulance driver has been forwarded to his mother, Mrs. C. H. McCreedy in this city, and like his previous letters is most interesting and vividly descriptive. The letter follows:

July 6th, 1918

Little did I think when I decided to come over here that I would have an opportunity to write a letter in a chateau that is about the size of the first two floors of the Wayland with one large room, or several if I needed them, all to myself. Am sitting in a beautiful room on the first floor, at a table large enough to seat 15 people and can look out onto a steep slope running down to a small lake, which is included in the large estate, and there is not a soul in sight anywhere. No, I am not on "perdition." I am on duty for 24 hours at the colonel's headquarters. It is only three kilometers from our camp in the woods and we keep a car here all the time to take care of the calls that come in from nearby villages where some of our regiments are quartered. A general made this his headquarters for a while after we came, but at present the only occupants of the chateau are the colonel (our Medical Divisionnaire), his secretary and myself—perhaps now you're thinking what a soft life that must be. Well, it is pretty nice in the day time and the privilege of picking a bedroom and bed out of a selection of about twenty might add to our comfort at night, but—we are only about half a kilometer from the town on which the "avions" unload several dozen bombs every clear night. Several have landed in the grounds and have come too close to the place where we sleep to make a night here anything to be looked forward to with pleasure. There is a pretty good cave under the building, however, and we make use of it as soon as the noise begins. It is a little cloudy this evening but not enough to assure us that the avions will not be over, as the French planes are still up. The colonel just came in and asked me where I was sleeping tonight and what I was going to do when the avions came, and when I answered the latter part of his question he merely said, "Tis better." The French officers all the way through are most democratic. Those with whom we have anything to do always greet us with a hand shake and say good bye in the same way. As we were coming back from the front after the attack, in convoy and were passing through a small town, a colonel whom I had carried on a sort of inspection trip some time previous and had never seen but once, ran out into the street, called my attention by waving his cane and hollered "Bonjour" as I passed. Perhaps the U. S. officers will calm down a bit, too, after three or four years of real war. Of course, we see none of them except our own lieutenant and are not in a position to judge, but the impression we got from others is that our officers are careful not to be democratic.

July 9th

Our July 4th came on the 7th and perhaps you will be interested to know what kind of a time we had. We planned a celebration here at our camp with Section 4 as a guest so we got busy on the 3rd and fixed up the grounds with flags and flowers and a banner which I made out of my red blanket—I'll send you a picture of the banner later. We had everything all set before we went to bed and the prospects were that we would have a great celebration. About 11:30 that night we were awakened by an order to move as quickly as possible, that the Boche were attacking. We piled out in the dark, rolled up our beds and packed our things together and by 12:30 we were ready to beat it. By that time we had learned that we were to go up (not back) so, having already been startled by the news that the Boche were coming through, we were a bit excited. The final orders were to send six cars up at 2 o'clock, so the six who were picked stayed up and the rest of the section went back to sleep, or laid down, rather—I doubt if any of them slept. We were told to take all our own personal stuff because we might not be coming back. It was a little cloudy at midnight and at 2 o'clock when we left no stars at all could be seen, which of course made it quite dark, but assured us that we need not expect the avions.

We went up thirteen kilometers toward the front and it was just beginning to get light when we assembled in the main square of a little village, with a bunch of officers, who chatted for a few minutes and then told us to drive off a short distance to the edge of a woods and get what sleep

we could until further orders. We slept until about seven and then got orders to move again, farther into the woods where we would establish a camp. A few minutes after we got there the rest of the section showed up and the attack was over, as far as we were concerned. We heard nothing about any activity at the front and we think that perhaps the orders were given for practice in preparation for something that might happen now at any time. The orders were to stay up there in the woods till 9 that night, so the 4th turned out to be a kind of fizzle—we were all pretty tired and had nothing but cold meals. We got back here just before the avions came so we were in time to see the fireworks in the city. Several incendiary bombs were dropped and a fire was started which lasted all night and lit up our woods and the country around here for two or three kilometers. We watched it till about 1:30 and then went to bed.

Things have been quiet since then except for the celebration which we had on the 7th. About 15 fellows from Section 4 came over and of course we had a big feed. We got the piano from the chateau which I mentioned before and made good use of it all afternoon.

The news has been rather encouraging lately and it makes us feel that we won't be here for another 4th.

Our division goes in today or tomorrow and we move up in the morning.

Ed. Prodzinski, who is with Company B, 58th Infantry, 4th Division, "somewhere in France," has written to members of his family, who live near Polonia. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Prodzinski and went overseas on the ship Moldavia. His letter, which was written July 6, follows:

I received your letters, but as I haven't time to answer all of them, I'm going to write one to all of you. This being my first letter since I'm over here, I'll tell you some of the experiences I had coming across. I know you read about this in the papers, so I'll just write about myself. We were all sleeping when the torpedo struck the ship. You know how hard it was to wake me up when I was at home, and even now I always tell the fellow who sleeps with me to wake me, but that morning no one had to call me. And in that case I had to be quick about it or I would not have been out yet, as the torpedo struck in the section where we were sleeping and the water sure was coming in fast. I was wet up to my waist before I got out of there, for the stairs was blown out and I had to look for a beam to grab hold of on which to pull myself up, and then, too, I wasn't the only one trying to get out.

After we got up on deck, we threw our raft over and then followed. The raft is but six feet square, and the number of ours was 13, unlucky or lucky, I don't know which. But I'm thinking it must be lucky, for the raft tipped over with us twice and still we didn't give her up. The fault was our own that we tipped over, for instead of getting down into the water and hanging on to the raft, we sat on it with our feet hanging in the water. Gee! but the water tasted salty. After we reached the raft the second time, we knew how to use it. We weren't afraid of going down to the bottom, for we knew there was no bottom to the place.

After the destroyer picked us up, I got down into the boiler room and stayed there till we reached shore. By that time my clothes were dry. You know what size shoes I had when I was home for Christmas? Well, I had the same size then. After taking them off, I poured about a gallon of water out of each one. I had a number of pictures and other things, but everything went down with the ship.

Celebrated the Fourth of July in Paris. Pete and I were together. There was a big parade and we had a good time, even if we couldn't speak French.

I have seen some guns and airships which were captured from the Germans, and a lot of other things which I believe were used before the time of Christ.

The country looks something like our own, hills and valleys. The people live as father used to tell about—all bunched up in little villages. You don't see any houses along the road like at home, and hardly any fences either. The weather is fine, haven't had any rain since my arrival, but the crops look good. The farmers are cutting rye already. A lot of wheat is raised here, also potatoes and oats. Also saw a little patch of corn. There are two things I have seen in every place I have visited, and those are sparrows and Ford's.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Short Session Held On Monday Evening—Three High School Teachers Quit

Messrs. McDonald, Flentje, Cook, Pfiffner, Delzell, Jerzak, Vetter and Emmons are members of the Board of Education who attended the regular monthly meeting of that body last Monday evening.

The alleged nuisance caused by refuse from the T. Olsen barn on Water street, near the Second ward school, was again called to the attention of the board through a letter from Dist. Attorney Pfiffner, in which he enclosed a copy of a communication from the attorney general. It had been suggested to the state office that he commence action against Olsen, but this he refuses to do. However, Mr. Haven advises that any citizen may bring suit, or the local board of health has power to compel the premises being kept in sanitary condition.

Mr. Flentje stated that a week ago last Friday a deputy health officer, Dr. Spencer of Wausau, was here and made an inspection of the place in company with Dr. von Neupert, Sr., and the speaker. Dr. Spencer advised that a cement floor be laid in the barn and pointed out other methods to make it more sanitary. He also suggested that the health board compile a set of rules and compel Olsen to follow them.

A motion was unanimously passed by the school authorities that Olsen be compelled to put the premises in sanitary condition and keep it in first-class repair.

New furnaces have been purchased for the West Side school and for the Fourth ward kindergarten building. The first mentioned cost $385 and the latter was bought for $160, both being purchased from Krembs Hardware Co.

Clerk Pfiffner announced the receipt of $15.44 for the sale of scrap iron.

Supt. Snyder announced the resignations of three high school teachers, the instructors in mathematics and physics, Latin and algebra, and M. B. Wooten, head of the commercial department. Mr. Snyder admitted that the teacher proposition is a very serious one and thought it inadvisable to fill the vacancies without personal interviews with applicants. He is in correspondence with several who have applied and expects to meet one or more of them in Chicago this week.

A circular letter from State Supt. Cary contained a boost for the Junior High school, a comparatively new idea along educational lines but one which has met with much favor.

Supt. Snyder brought up the matter of increasing the high school recitation periods from 45 to 60 minutes and suggested that a course in general science be adopted to replace the four separate studies of physiology, botany, chemistry and physics during freshmen and sophomore years. A motion to adopt Mr. Snyder's recommendation was carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

ANOTHER SHORTAGE

The question of supplying the High school with teachers for the coming school year is almost as serious as the sugar shortage. Superintendent of city schools, H. C. Snyder, arrived home after an enjoyable vacation to find the resignation of three former teachers awaiting him.

M. B. Wooten, head of the commercial department for the past two years, will not appear in that role this year.

Miss Frances Leenhouts, who taught Latin, has decided to remain at her home in Milwaukee.

C. N. Stokes, who was to have been the athletic director, sent notice of his inability to be present in that capacity this year.

The new principal, David Newberry, who succeeds T. S. Murrell, is expected to arrive here from Appleton this week.

The rest of the teachers are expected to return to the positions they held last year with the exception of Miss Stella Kurz, science teacher, who is to be married this fall.

Miss Florence Radley of Waupaca spent a few days visiting with Inez Nordbye, 204 Washington avenue, prior to Monday.

SHOOTING AFFRAY

Former Stevens Pointer Instantly Killed As Result of Quarrel Over Money Matters

Martin Pallem, a former resident of Stevens Point, was instantly killed last Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock by George Tomlinson at the latter's farm in the town of Little Rice on the Tomahawk river in Oneida county.

The shooting followed a quarrel between the two men over a debt which Tomlinson owed Pallem for some potatoes. Tomlinson claims that he shot Pallem in self defense when the latter was about to strike him, first with a grub hoe and then with a well pointed. Two shots were fired by Tomlinson from a thirty-two revolver, the first grazing Pallem's chest and the second entering the right cheek and lodging in the head. He died instantly after the second shot.

Immediately after the shooting Tomlinson hurried to the nearest farm home having a telephone and notified Sheriff Rodd and then returned to his home and awaited the arrival of the officers, who that night accompanied him to the county jail at Rhinelander to await the coroner's inquest.

Considerable sympathy was expressed for Tomlinson, according to the Rhinelander New North, the feeling being general that he acted in self defense. Pallem is reputed to have been of a quarrelsome nature and had little regard for the law. About three months ago he abandoned his family and returned home only recently.

The victim of the fatal quarrel was about 40 years of age and was born in Portage county, between Polonia and Alban. When a young man he enlisted in the United States Army and served in the Philippines until he received an injury to one of his legs, which made him unfit for service, and he was honorably discharged. Sixteen years ago he was married to Miss Josie Szymkowiak of Alban and they were residents of Stevens Point for several years, while the husband followed his trade as a carpenter. Later they moved to Hazelhurst. They were the parents of seven children. Besides the widow and children, the deceased is survived by a sister, Mrs. Frank Dulak of Amherst Junction and a brother, Thomas Pallem of Alban.

The family name was formerly spelled Palbarch, but in recent years was shortened to the present spelling Pallem.

George Tomlinson is a bachelor and is 72 years of age.

IN BUSINESS AT TWO RIVERS

Adam Musial, formerly engaged in the shoe business here but who now follows a like vocation at Two Rivers, drove over the first of the week for a visit among relatives in town. Mrs. Musial accompanied him. Two Rivers is now an important manufacturing center, they having two immense illuminium plants there and it is also the home of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., the biggest makers of printers' material in the world.

A LIVESTOCK INSTITUTE

Successful Gathering Held at Welch's
Grove, Town of Stockton, Last Thursday

The county here last Thursday was a strong counter-attraction for the livestock institute held at Welch's grove, town of Stockton, that day, but 125 or more people attended the latter event and spent a very profitable afternoon. They not only gained much knowledge about agricultural lines, but the meeting was also a social success, made so by the hosts, the Welch family of Stockton.

E. L. Luther of Madison, superintendent of Wisconsin farmers' institutes, made a very interesting talk on the growing of soy beans, which he regarded as a very profitable and dependable crop. This vegetation contains a large amount of protein, an element quite necessary for the soil. In fact, Luther gathered by Mr. Luther shows that Portage county is now the leading soy bean raising county in Wisconsin, quite a few of our farmers raising from fifteen to twenty acres this season, one man has in 27 acres and another 30 acres. There will be an unusual demand for seed for next year's sowing.

Arthur Peterson of Nelsonville also spoke at the institute and gave an entertaining account of the state dairymen's convention held in Milwaukee a few days before. Dean Russell, who addressed the Milwaukee gathering, advised cattle raisers to feed their stock as never before, as butter and all other products are sure to bring a big price this winter.

An object lesson in the development of livestock was the showing of fourteen head of calves at Thursday's gathering, practically all of which were raised by boys belonging to calf clubs. A careful cost record was kept for each animal and it was shown that a fair profit would result if sales were made at beef prices.

An eight-month old Holstein critter from the county farm near Amherst Junction weighs 750 pounds.

All of these calves will be exhibited at the Stevens Point fair next week.

A stock judging contest supervised by Mr. Peterson and S. Earl Carley of Buena Vista, resulted in the following awards:

First prize, a bushel of apples, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bannach, to Leonard O'Keefe of Arnott.

Second prize, a peck of soy beans, given by Welch Bros., to Roy O'Keefe of Arnott.

Third, a watermelon furnished by Co. Agent Coyner, to Henry Bannach of Custer.

Fourth, one-half bushel apples from the Bannach orchard, to Vergil O'Brien of Linwood.

Musical numbers were given by Miss Frances Oesterle and a quartette. Community singing also enlivened the gathering.

Stockton boys and girls erected a stand, from which light refreshments were sold.

The gathering was a worth-while affair and it is hoped that many more of like character will be held.

CHURCH IS DEDICATED

Handsome Building Erected by St. Stanislaus' Congregation is Blessed Last Sunday

The new St. Stanislaus church, which has seating capacity for 1,000 people, was blessed to its utmost last Sunday morning and many people were unable to gain admission. The ceremony was the dedication of this handsome church by Right Rev. P. P. Rymaszewski, who also blessed the two large bells, one of which is made in Poland and the other in America.

The ceremony began at 10:30 a. m. and lasted until 12:30 p. m. The church is a handsome building of brick and stone, with a large bell tower and a modern interior. It is the first church of its kind in Stevens Point.

The church is the property of the St. Stanislaus congregation, which has been working for its completion for many years. The building is a masterpiece of architecture and is a credit to the community.

The church is located on N. Fremont street, diagonally across from St. Michael's hospital. It is a beautiful building and is a credit to the community.

AUTOS COME TOGETHER

Man From Plover Runs Into an Over-land on Church Street Last Saturday Evening

A collision of automobiles near the Sixth ward school building last Saturday evening resulted in damage to both cars, one of which was considerably wrecked. A big Case car owned by Anton Shopinski of Plover was going south on Church street and because of the apparent condition of the driver, little or no attention was paid to road rules. An Overland driven by Leonard Nohr came from the opposite direction and although Leonard gave the other fellow ample space along the highway the Case car struck his rear bumper, heading in considerably and broke the tail light.

The front axle on the Case was broken when it struck a tree a few seconds later, the front smash broke under one of a front wheel and damage done to the radiator.

Both cars were taken to the Badger garage for repairs.

BUSINESS STILL BOOMING

A slight rise in the financial value of the clamming industry on the Wisconsin river in this vicinity may be gauged by the statement that Lou Myers, one of the local buyers of clam shells, has paid upwards of $1,000 this season to boys between 10 and 15 years of age. The youngsters visit Myers' warehouse every day, bringing sacks or cars containing hundreds of shells weighing from two to four hundred pounds. It is reported that a certain West Side resident "cleaned up" more than $500 in six or eight days' work last month.

LADY DRIVER KILLED

A Cadillac car running at what is alleged to have been fifty-five miles an hour crashed into a Ford near Rockville, Marathon county, last Sunday morning, completely wrecking the lighter machine and killing its occupant, a Marshfield lady. The Ford was traveling along an east-west road when the big car came up from the south and struck it nearly in the center, smashing almost every part and hurling the small auto into a considerable distance. The lady lived only a few moments. The Cadillac escaped with scarcely a scratch.

PARK COMMISSION MEETS

A meeting of the park commission was held at the council chambers last Monday evening. This was the first meeting of the board since the recent appointment of two new members, L. P. Pasternacki and J. J. Bukolt as members. Other members composing the board are E. McGlachlin, M. E. Bruce and J. A. Cashin. Mr. McGlachlin was re-elected president and W. L. Bronson, city clerk, was elected secretary to succeed Guy W. Rogers, resigned because of entering army service.

Among the business transacted was the making of arrangements for repairs to buildings and fences at the fair grounds and the appointment of a committee consisting of Cashin, Bruce and Pasternacki to have general charge of the fair grounds.

Mr. Bukolt was appointed to confer with the water company regarding service for the South Side fountain and Mr. Bruce reported that the treasury had been enriched by $25 received from the circus and $2 from a recent ball game.

LOCAL SOLDIER INJURED

Although his name has not appeared in any of the casualty lists, William Russell Broten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Broten of this city, was injured in action. The action, however, was not on the firing line in France, but in California. A fire broke out in one of the buildings at Fort Scott, Cal., where Mr. Broten is stationed and the fire department of the Fort was called into action. The various vehicles were manned by soldiers and were being hauled up a hill by them when one of them deserted and started down hill. Mr. Broten was in the path of the machine, but was not aware of its coming until he was struck. The machine had the same effect on him as a tank would have on a company of Teutons, pursuing, and finally running over him. He has always been known to be lucky and so he escaped with a broken rib, a bruised arm, and a few scratches on his legs. He was taken to the hospital to receive treatment.

Mr. Broten enlisted on reaching his eighteenth year, in the coast artillery, March 29, and was sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and later to Fort Scott, where he has remained. Prior to his enlistment he attended the Stevens Point High school and was to have graduated with the class of '18. He was prominent in school activities and was captain of the High school foot ball team last year.

He has another brother, Robert, who is in France with Battery E, to which most of old Troop I of this city have been assigned.

Mrs. Jesse A. Smith came up from Milwaukee today for a visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Dunagan.

Miss Buelah Neumann, who had been spending her vacation at Appleton and Weyauwega, has resumed her duties at the local telephone exchange.

Miss Alice C. Rogers, who had been visiting at the home of her brother, F. W. Rogers, at Park Falls, returned to her home in this city, Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Evelyn O'Leary, daughter of Mrs. G. E. O'Leary, has been engaged to teach at the Oshkosh Normal school. She takes up her duties there as physical director, Sept. 16.

Miss Gertrude Van Adestine is expected from Manawa this evening for a visit with Mrs. John W. Glennon, 816 Main street. Miss Van Adestine, who is now supervisor of deaf schools in Detroit, organized the local school for the deaf and taught here four years.

SAMUEL WHITNEY CALLED

One of Stevens Point's Early Residents Passed Away After Long Illness

A Stevens Point pioneer passed away last Saturday afternoon when Samuel A. Whitney was called. He had been confined to his home at 803 Ellis street for the past eight weeks and had been in failing health for a year, having been obliged to give up his usual activities at that time. His death was the result of a complication of diseases.

Born at Marimichi, New Brunswick, Canada on Nov. 6, 1843, Samuel Whitney was nearly seventy-five years of age. When he was twenty-two years old he came to the United States and settled at Bangor, Maine, for one year before going to Pittsburgh, Pa., where he remained for another year and then came west to Stevens Point. He was a resident of this city for the past fifty years and was married here in 1870 to Miss Lucy Brawley, daughter of Abraham Brawley, a well known early resident, after whom the city was named. Mr. Whitney was engaged in the lumbering industry most of his life and about fifteen years ago he purchased a farm near Junction City, which he operated since, spending his time between that place and his home in this city.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one daughter, Miss Irene, who has been at home for the past year, two sons, John of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and David of this city, three brothers, David C. Whitney of this city, John and James of Newcastle, New Brunswick, and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Mrs. Mary McCormick, also of Newcastle.

The funeral was held from the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with Rev. James Blake of the Baptist church officiating. Those in attendance from outside the city are Mrs. Virginia Bailey of South Bend, Ind., Mrs. Augusta Mattes of Wausau, D. H. Vaughn of Rhineclander and John Whitney of Tulsa, Okla. Burial was in Forest cemetery.

MRS. GEBERT FOUND GUILTY

Mrs. Lucy Gebert, wife of A. E. Gebert, a well-to-do meat dealer and stock buyer at Milladore, was convicted in federal court at Eau Claire last Monday, but sentence was deferred.

The indictment charged that the defendant on February 8, 1918, upon hearing the news of the sinking of the Tuscania with the consequent loss of American lives, threatened the life of President Wilson by putting a bullet through his head.

Violation of the act of congress of February 14, 1917, "threatens against the life of the president."

THE LIBERTY LOANS

The United States entered the war on April 6, 1917. Eighteen days later by a practically unanimous vote Congress passed the Liberty Loan Bond bill.

On May 2 the First Liberty Loan was announced, on May 14 the details were made public, and on the 15th the campaign began and closed one month later. The issue was for $2,000,000,000, the bonds bearing 3 1/2 per cent interest and running from 15 to 30 years. The bonds carried the conversion privilege, entitling the holder, if he chose, to convert them into bonds of a later issue bearing a higher rate of interest. Four and a half million subscribers from every section of the country, representing every condition, race, and class of citizens, subscribed for more than $2,000,000,000 of the bonds. Only $2,000,000,000 was allotted.

The outstanding feature of the First Liberty Loan were the promptness with which it was arranged and conducted, the patriotism of the newspapers, banks, corporations, organizations, and people generally in working for its success, and the heavy over-subscription of more than 50 per cent. Another notable feature was that there was no interruption to the business of the country occasioned by the unprecedented demand upon its money resources.

The Second Liberty Loan campaign opened on October 1, 1917, and closed on October 27. The bonds of this issue bear 4 per cent interest and run for 10 to 25 years. It was announced that 50 per cent of the over-subscription would be taken. Nine million subscribers subscribed to $4,817,532,000 of the bonds, an over-subscription of 54 per cent. Only $3,808,764,170 of the bonds was allotted.

This campaign was marked with the same enthusiastic support of the public as its predecessor. The labor and fraternal organizations, and especially the women of the country did efficient organized work which greatly contributed to the success of the loan. The men in the Army and Navy worked for and subscribed largely to the loan.

The Third Liberty Loan campaign opened on April 6, 1918, one year exactly after our entrance into the war, and closed on May 4. The bonds of this issue bear 4 1/2 per cent interest and run for 10 years, are not subject to redemption prior to maturity, and carry no conversion privilege. The loan was announced for $3,000,000,000, but the right was reserved to accept all additional subscriptions. Seventeen million subscribers subscribed for $4,170,119,650 of the bonds, all of which was allotted.

A great feature of this loan was its very wide distribution among the people and throughout the Union and the fact that the country districts promptly and heavily subscribed to the loan, in a great measure making up their quotas earlier than the cities. Secretary McAdoo pronounced this loan the soundest of national financing.

A little over a year ago there were some 300,000 United States bondholders; there are now somewhere between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000. Awakened patriotism has made the American people a saving people, a bond-buying people. The effect of the Liberty Loans on the national character, on our national life, on the individual citizen and our home life is immeasurable of incalculable benefit. Not less incalculable is their effect on the destiny of the world as our ships plow the seas and our men and material in Europe beat back the Hun.

The Fourth Liberty Loan campaign will begin Saturday, September 28, and close October 19. No American doubts its success; no good American will fail to contribute to its success. The blood of our men fallen in Europe calls to us; our answer must be and will be worthy of them and our country.

As a result of an accident in a Ladysmith mill, William Raschke lost all of his fingers.

While making a toy from a large piece of wood, little George Zabel of Sheboygan chopped off the forefinger of his left hand.

Miss Sarah MacLean of Janesville has received orders to report for duty as a Y. M. C. A. hut worker in France on September 1.

Karl E. Jacobsen, the Pentecostal evangelist arrested for attacking the Red Cross, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

"I confidently expect the new manpower bill to be passed by congress," said Congressman John J. Each of La Crosse, home on a brief vacation.

A hearing was given by the railroad commission to the La Crosse & Southeastern railroad, which asks for an increase in passenger fare to four cents.

A. L. Stone of Madison will be judge of grain, corn, grasses and miscellaneuous, while J. G. Milward will judge potatoes and stock vegetables at the state fair.

Ninety days in the house of correction was the sentence imposed on Robert Walker of Milwaukee, who has been using morphine for the last seventeen years.

After having been idle for one year owing to the death of one of its members, the Michigan Hoop and Stave company of Marinette resumed operations this week.

The 500 strikers at the Milwaukee Dry Docks company have returned to work pending arbitration with Irving Pond, United States representative on the Great lakes.

Miss Louise Nardin of the university of Missouri has been appointed to succeed Mrs. Lois K. M. Rosenberry, former dean of women at the university of Wisconsin.

A fifteen year old boy, Arnold Biaubach, was bound over in municipal court at Milwaukee last week after having been arraigned on the charge of forgery and burglary.

A service flag containing twenty-eight stars, representing Milwaukee police officers who have joined the service, was presented to Chief of Police John T. Janssen last Thursday afternoon.

When the Grand river bridge between Fairport and Painesville collapsed, an interurban car plunged twenty-five feet into twenty feet of water. Eight passengers were injured but none killed.

Over a hundred Milwaukee boys fought fire at the Norris farm camp at Big Bend. In spite of their efforts the main house and barn were totally destroyed and the loss is estimated at $25,000.

Dean E. Birge will be the acting president of Wisconsin university while Charles R. Van Hise is in Europe, by invitation of the British government, placing American war problems before the British public.

The common council of La Crosse expects to soon hang up a service flag with two stars, as two of its members, Alderman Reinhold Schultz is a captain in France and Alderman John Antsen has gone to Camp Shelby in the draft.

In anticipation of the change in the draft law which is expected to be enacted in congress, preparations are being made by the adjutant general's office at Madison for the new draft law which if passed will go into effect on September 5.

State guards should only be used in extraordinary cases when police officers cannot cope with the situation alone, as the guards lack authority to arrest, and therefore should not be called for slacker raids, is the opinion of Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway.

Rock county Democrats will face practically a blank ballot when they vote for their party in the primaries, as all but one of the seven candidates who filed petitions have failed to qualify because their petitions did not carry the required number of signatures.

The question has arisen whether or not the office of county judge of Green county is vacated by the conviction of Judge John M. Becker. The statutes seem to conflict and Attorney General Haven has been asked his opinion. In case of a vacancy the governor makes the appointment.

WISCONSIN'S CROP REPORT

Prospects Good for More Than Average Yield of Small Grains—Potatoes Damaged by Leaf Hopper

The report issued a few days ago by the Cooperative crop reporting service for Wisconsin at Madison says that Wisconsin will undoubtedly go "over the top" in her production of small grains this year. The condition of the oat and barley crops on August 1 is estimated at 96 and 97 per cent of normal, respectively, as compared with a ten year average of 86 per cent, and the condition of the spring wheat is estimated at 96 per cent of normal, with a probable production of 6,778,000 bushels compared to 3,095,000 bushels last season. Potatoes will yield only about 88 per cent of normal this year, as compared to 90 per cent a year ago. The condition of the crop is deteriorating rather rapidly due to the excessively hot weather and the unusual damage caused by leaf hopper.

The outlook for the yield of corn is estimated at 87 per cent, as compared to 80 per cent last year, and the prospects for a large tobacco crop were never better. The rye crop was harvested in good shape and is of good quality, although the yield is slightly below last year's production.

Due to winter-killing the winter wheat and clover hay crops are light this year, but the loss in winter wheat is made up by the increase in spring wheat, and a large acreage of grain mixtures were planted to be cut for hay, which will make up for the decrease in clover.

The report for Portage county shows the early potato crop injured by dry weather, also oats on light soils. Recent rains have greatly improved conditions. While the hay crop is light, the soy bean crop is looking good.

"THE SNOW BIRD"

When the first open air porch was added to the children's hospital, the attention of visitors was attracted by a child who loved the out-door winter air so well and was so happy that he had been given the pet name of "Snow Bird." Snow Bird was a hopeless victim of tuberculosis of the hip joints and a well-nigh helpless cripple, as a result of the deforming character of this disease of the joints.

There was no hope for his recovery, nor much for his comfort when he became the first resident of the new porch. He had been a pitiful sufferer from the disease which had been contracted from an ignorant, careless, and uncared for consumptive mother. Never had any of the physicians or nurses seen him smile. Never had he been entirely free from pain. After he had been on the porch for a few days, however, the doctor was amazed one morning to receive a flickering smile in response to a friendly word and caressing touch.

As time went on, the smile lost its flickering character and became a broad grin on the slightest provocation. The companionship of his fellow patients interested Snow Bird for the first time, and callers at the hospital found him to be a most hospitable host. The nurses could not keep a cap on his head, his arms under the bedclothing, nor the top button of his shirt buttoned. The poor little chap had been air hungry and he wished to bathe his poor, little wasted body, inside and out, in air.

Snow Bird is dead. His friends, the physicians and nurses, could not have wished him to live on. He had been too seriously injured for any possible recovery which would have been satisfactory. He has two memories at the hospital in the form of two additional sleeping porches which were paid for by visitors whose attention had been attracted by his happy smile and whose interest and enthusiasm were aroused by the story of a child who had suffered so much but who had found comfort and fresh air. And there are other memories, also, of the story of this little fellow who had been brought to the hospital with a broken body and brought conviction to hard-headed business men that dollars have no better uses than when spent to buy for a child protection from preventable disease for little children.

Your letter of June 27, 1918, is at hand. From the statements made therein it appears that the common council has authorized the officers of the city to make a complaint to this commission relative to the charge made by the Wisconsin Valley Co. for thawing water services at Stevens Point, the failure of the Stevens Point Water Co. to properly maintain service pipes and the failure of the company to maintain hydrants and fire protection in suitable condition. We send you herewith blank forms upon which such complaints may be filed with the commission. We will be pleased to receive your complaint and to give it immediate attention.

Yours very truly,
Railroad Commission of Wisconsin,
Harold L. Geisse, Sec'y.

Moved by Alderman McDonald and seconded that the blanks be filled out by the city attorney and city clerk. Carried.

46,747 Wisconsin Men were in the United States Army service on May 1, 1918. (Adjutant General's Official Report). Fully as many more Badgers are enrolled in the United States Navy, the Marine Corps, Volunteer Engineer regiments, Medical units, etc. It is safe to say that at this time 100,000 Wisconsin men have quitted their homes and labors and are serving in the field under the Stars and Stripes. These patriots have left all their home interests in your hands in the confidence that you will not violate any of them during their absence. They are giving their service loyally and are carrying the banner of Democracy valiantly. Some must die heroically and the others will return victoriously. Your accounting as trustee of their interests will then have to be made.

These 100,000 Wisconsin men left their state as they had fashioned it and want to return to it. Is it a square deal to them that you, during their absence in your service, impose repugnant forms of restraint and control upon them? Inflict them with Prohibition which they shunned while here and to which they have not been subjected "over there" even under the strict discipline of war?

Prohibition faddists never were able to impose their anaemic theories upon Wisconsin people, while these 100,000 red-blooded boys were at home and within reach of the ballot box. To attempt it now is not only cowardly but is a direct and insulting slap in the face of these boys who left us as guardians of their affairs and are facing bullets for humanity's sake.

No matter what your position may be upon the Prohibition question, if you favor the preservation of all our soldiers' interests and rights until they are at home to speak for themselves, elect assemblymen and state senators who will so vote when they gather at the next session of the state legislature in Madison.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS of INTEREST

Walter Habeck, of the town of Reed and Miss Madge Bentley, daughter of William Bentley of Lincoln, were married Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of Rev. James Blake. There were no attendants. The couple left Tuesday night on a short honeymoon before returning to Mr. Habeck's farm in the town of Reed, which is in Marathon county.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Austin, who spent a party of young people who spent Saturday night and Sunday at the Morgan cottage, Chas. of Lakes. Those who went down from here were: Fred Krohn, Milton M. Caldwell, Mollie Kromb, Lillian M. Caldwell, Cephas Jacobowski, Alice Sovey and Ray Austin, the latter of Missoula, Mont.

A farewell picnic supper in honor of Theodore Wlodarski was given by the Moll-Gertson Co. and employees of the car at water works park last Monday evening. "Ted" began work for this company a few years ago as delivery boy, being later promoted to salesman, and in both capacities he proved thoroughly efficient. He is one of the young men who leave here tomorrow to join the country's defenders.

The marriage of Miss Estella Kurz of Appleton and Perry O. Powell of Milwaukee will take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary C. Kurz, at Appleton this evening. Miss Kurz was a member of the Stevens Point High school faculty last year, having taught physiology and physical geography. She is a cousin of Mrs. W. F. Owen of this city. Mr. Powell was a law student at Marquette university and at present is Milwaukee director of the United States school garden army.

Henry Welch of Stockton, who leaves for Indianapolis early tomorrow morning to enter the service in the mechanical training detachment, was the guest of honor at a gathering of relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, 111 Jefferson street, last Sunday evening. He was presented with a soldier's kit. Last evening a party of young people gathered at the home of his mother, Mrs. Martin Welch, in Stockton, and spent a most enjoyable evening.

Bailey E. Ramsdell, instructor in mathematics at the Stevens Point High school in 1912-13, was recently married, and the following taken from the Wausau Record-Herald of Monday will be interesting to many acquaintances in this city: Word has been received in the city that Bailey E. Ramsdell, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ramsdell of Marion, formerly residents of Wausau, was married recently at Augusta, Georgia, where he is a lieutenant at the Machine Gun school, to Miss Addie Mae Hurley of Green Bay.

The groom after graduating from the Wausau high school, graduated from the state university at Madison and then took the law course from which he graduated last summer and was practicing law at Eau Claire at the time he enlisted last fall, and received his commission as lieutenant this spring and is now teaching in the Machine Gun school at Camp Hancock. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. Mary Hurley, widow of the late Dr. Hurley of Green Bay, and is a popular young lady of that city. She is a graduate of the Green Bay high school and graduated from Lawrence college in 1916. She had signed a contract to teach French in the Green Bay high school this year, but may decide to remain with her husband at Camp Hancock until he goes across.

INSPECTS ROAD JOB

Mayor Owen and seven members of the city council made an informal inspection of the new concrete highway between Church street and the paper mills, last Monday evening, and found that the Murphy Construction Co. had done a good job as far as its portion of the contract was concerned. The aldermanic body have other serious criticisms to make, however, practically all of which are embodied in a communication published on the second page of this issue. The letter referred to was not written by any of the councilmen but by another taxpayer who made a careful survey of the work.

JOIN THE MARINES

Paul Paulson underwent an operation at St. Michael's hospital last Thursday for hernia, which developed as the result of an operation for appendicitis, performed four years ago. He had not been troubled by the ailment up to the time of his examination for entrance into the Marines. At the recruiting office he was told an operation would be necessary before he would be accepted, as otherwise he was physically fit. He left Milwaukee for this city and has been in the hospital since.

Mr. Paulson expects to report for duty in four weeks and will be sent to Parris Island, S. C., where his brother, Martin Paulson, who is a former Normal student here, is stationed. The other brother, Arthur, is in the Marine corps at Quantico, where he is also stationed.

Both young men were students of the local Normal school and were prominent in all school activities.

SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

Portage County's Quota in the Student Nurse Reserve More Than Filled

Portage county has gone "over the top" again and when the campaign for recruiting nurses was closed last Monday, instead of the required quota of twenty, the committee in charge had secured twenty-two applicants. And had it not been for the impending passage of the new registration law, making the military ages from 18 to 25, three additional applicants would have been recruited. However, as the new law will take effect from the first of the young ladies in question believed they could not be spared at this time. Then, too, a few applicants were turned away because of "national" objections.

There were two ways in which the quota was met, in the army training school and in the United States student nurse reserve.

Those enlisting for the army training school were the following:

- Miss Selma Notte Voight, Amherst Junction.
- Miss Ruth McGreevy, Stevens Point.
- Miss Marcia Anthony, Amherst.
- Miss Jane Vaughn, Almond.
- Miss Anne Lucille Krutva, Stevens Point.

Those enlisting in the United States student nurse reserve are the following:

- Miss Ellen Orin Hjerstedt, Kellner.
- Miss Merle Daisy Hammond, Lankark.
- Miss Alice Harriet Lee, Rosholt.
- Miss Emily Nelmsa Brandt, Amherst.
- Miss Irene Leonore Nelson, Amherst Junction.
- Miss Stella Lena Morgan, Almond.
- Mrs. Hilda Caroline Olson, Amherst.
- Miss Ramona Barbara Jacobson, Stevens Point.
- Mrs. Belle Delia MacMurray, Stevens Point.
- Miss Nellie Jane Warner, Stevens Point.
- Miss Sadie Lydia Hauden, Stevens Point.
- Miss Bessie Wightman, River Pines, Stevens Point.

Besides those listed above five other young ladies, being unaware that the campaign would be made in their home county, had made application for the service a week or two previous to the opening of the local recruiting station, but they are credited to Portage county. They are:

- Miss Louise Ashmun, Stevens Point, army training school.
- Miss Mayme Een, Amherst, army training school.
- Miss Mildred Foster, Stevens Point, student nurses reserve.
- Miss Anna Larkin, River Pines, Stevens Point, student nurses reserve.
- Miss Selma Madson, Scandinavia, student nurses reserve.
- Mrs. D. J. Leahy, chairman of the Women's committee of the Portage county council of defense, and her assistant, Mrs. A. F. Haertel, are responsible in a great measure for the successful outcome of the campaign, as they left nothing undone to interest young women in every part of the county to enlist, and made personal visits to many likely candidates.

NOT RESPONSIBLE

The Civic & Commerce Association committee on lighting disclaim any responsibility for the removal of an electric street light from the corner of Prentice street and Fourth avenue, the taking away of which brought a remonstrance to last week's meeting of the city council. A plat prepared under the committee's direction shows a light at this corner, and they had no knowledge of its removal until last week.

McCormick, for the past seventeen years buttermaker for the Buena Vista Creamery Co., has resigned his position and expects to leave about Sept. 1st for Wrightstown, Brown county, where he has accepted a similar place with the Fox River Butter & Cheese Co., one of the biggest concerns in eastern Wisconsin.

Mrs. McCormick and their four sons will also go to Wrightstown about the middle of next month.

A successor at Buena Vista has not been chosen as yet, but several applicants are being considered.

Mr. McCormick's sole reason for leaving is because of the higher school facilities offered in the Brown county town. He is an expert at his calling and one who has always kept on friendly terms with his employers and patrons of the creamery. The proposed departure of this estimable family will be learned with deep regret.

SENT FAKE DISPATCH

A message from Portage to one of the Milwaukee papers says that 150 "slackers" connected with the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows were arrested here last Thursday night by federal officers and that small boys were hired to take their places. It was surely a fake dispatch, as no arrests were made here. Practically the whole outfit of employees were either under or over draft age.

TWO STROKES OF PARALYSIS

Mrs. Hans Gunderson, of Stevens Point, residents and mother of George, Carl and Arthur Gunderson, suffered two paralytic strokes at the past week, one on Saturday and the other last Monday. BOTH TWINS NOW GONE

Vernie Campbell, Former Stevens Pointer, Dies at Wales Sanitarium—Burial Near Plainfield

When Vernie Campbell died at his home in the town of Sharon eight years ago it caused profound regret among friends of the family throughout Portage and Waushara counties, and especially deep grief was felt by his twin brother, Vernie E. Campbell. Another break in the family circle took place on Jan. 15th, 1916, when the father, John H. Campbell, passed away after a lingering illness.

The Angel of Death made another call last Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and summoned Vernie Campbell, leaving a heartbroken widow, his mother, a sister, Mrs. Ida Scott of this city, and two brothers, Damon H. Campbell of Bellingham, Wash., and Aaron Campbell of Stevens Point.

Vernie was a resident of this city for several months up to a couple of years ago, being employed by Currier's taxi cab service, but he later engaged in farming near Plainfield and remained there until three weeks ago. A medical examination showed that one of his lungs was slightly affected and upon advice of his physician he went to the sanitarium at Wales, Waushara county. The treatment given him there seemed beneficial and he apparently gained in health and strength.

The young man retired at the usual hour last Wednesday evening but the next morning one of the nurses noticed his peculiar breathing and summoned medical aid. He was then past help and died a few hours later.

The direct cause of his death was given as Addison's disease, a rare and usually fatal malady which affects the kidneys.

Vernie was born in the town of Sharon, near Shantytown, 30 years ago, the 8th of last February. He attended school in that township and was later a student at the Normal and business college in this city. Shortly before locating on the Waushara county farm he was married to Miss Vesta Sparks of Plainfield.

The remains were brought to Plainfield, where funeral services were held at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and then conveyed to their final resting place at Campbell Corners cemetery. Prayers were also offered at the town hall, near the burying ground, by Revs. Rapstock and Joslin of Plainfield.

His mother, sister and brother went down from here, as did also Mrs. Nellie O'Connell and Miss Hazel Scott.

NEWS REVIEW OF THE GREAT WAR

British and French Begin New Offensive Between Albert and Montdidier.

HAIG DIRECTS THE DRIVE

Allies Force Crossing of the Vesle River in Face of Strong Resistance—Plans for Siberian Expedition—March States American Army Program.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Having thoroughly whipped the armies of the German crown prince and driven them back beyond the Vesle river, Foch, now a marshal of France, turned his attention to the middle of the week to the forces under the Bavarian crown prince, Rupprecht. At dawn on Thursday the British Fourth army and the French First army, under command of Field Marshal Haig, began an offensive on a wide front in the region east and south-east of Amiens. The front under attack was about twenty-eight miles in length, from Albert south to the vicinity of Montdidier.

Within 24 hours the allied forces had penetrated the enemy lines to points from six to seven miles beyond the start, had taken more than 10,000 prisoners and great quantities of material and many guns, and had occupied numerous towns. Their own losses were remarkably light. Tanks led the infantry in the attack and did wonderfully good work.

Complete success in this offensive would result in obliterating the German salient in the Montdidier region and would imperil the entire Hun line from Reims to Ypres. The Germans seem to have anticipated this movement by the allies and some days previously withdrew their forces there and in other sectors to stronger positions. Progress by the allies here carries them into the Picardy country which was ravaged by the Germans in their retreat of March, 1917, and again devastated by them when they drove forward this year.

The defeated but not disorganized Huns between Soissons and Reims, as was predicted, gathered their strength for a pause in their retreat between the Vesle and the Aisne. Their guns were brought into play from the plateau in that region which commands the Vesle valley. The Germans, in deed, made strenuous attempts to prevent the French and Americans from crossing the Vesle, especially in the vicinity of Fismes, but numerous relatively small units forced the crossings and held onto their new positions despite furious counterattacks. These operations were mostly between Fismes and Fismes. Up to the close of the week Marshal Foch had not tried to send any very large forces across the river, probably waiting until his artillery could drive the Huns from the nearer hills to the north. The Germans were using only medium caliber guns, which was taken to mean that their heavier artillery was being placed north of the Aisne to defend that line, for there seemed little doubt that they would be forced that far north before very long. Their position south of the Aisne was said to be really untenable though seemingly strong. At the west end of the line the French and Americans were steadily pushing east along the Aisne, and at the east end immediately north of Reims the French made considerable advance between the railways running to Laon and Reims.

The city of Fismes, which was so gallantly taken by the Americans, was as gallantly held against all attacks, though the Germans deluged it with explosive and gas shells. The machine gun and rifle fire of the Yankees was so accurate as to arouse the admiration of their allies.

Activity increased during the week in the Lys salient which the Germans made toward Bethune and Hazebrouck. On the southern side of this bulge the British moved forward between the Lawe and the Clarence. In other sectors of the northern line also the British attacked successfully. These operations probably were all related though their full significance was not known here. At least, it was clear that Foch had no intention of allowing the Huns to have any rest, now that he has them on the defensive.

Authorities admit that the kaiser's strength is still prodigious and that he has large reserves, but all unite in asserting that he has passed beyond the high point of power and efficiency and can never regain numerical supremacy, nor can he ever again have the opportunity to achieve a victory that was his two months ago. Those of his people who know the truth now admit that his ultimate defeat is a certainty. The more fearless papers of Germany and Austria do not hesitate to say this plainly. The military and pan-German leaders are held responsible, and as their only hope lies in administering to the allies the crushing blow so long promised by them, it is reasonable to expect another great Hun offensive before long. That is, if Marshal Foch gives them a chance, which doesn't seem to be a part of his present plans.

Arrangements for the American-Japanese expedition to Siberia have been going forward rapidly and the Czechoslovak forces over there will soon have the active support of a small but competent body of allied troops. It is announced that two regiments now in the Philippines will form part of the American contingent, and that it will be commanded by Maj. Gen. William S. Graves until recently assistant chief of staff of the army. Later it will be determined whether he will command the entire expedition. At Vladivostok the Americans will be joined by an equal number of Japanese and probably they will first drive from the Amur branch of the trans-Siberian railway the bolshevik and the Teuton war prisoners who were armed to aid them. Eastern Siberia would then be in the control of the allies and loyal Russians. British forces were landed at Vladivostok last week, for what purpose was not stated.

Japan has given evidence of eagerness to do more in Siberia than merely aid the Czechs, if she has the excuse, and it is reported that Lenin now plans to declare war on the Japanese, being instigated by Germany. The successes of the Czechs have had great effect in Austria, and reports from that country tell of the desertion of about a million soldiers of the Austro-Hungarian army. Eighty thousand of these deserters are living in Vienna and the government fears to take any step against them.

Conditions in northern Russia are very encouraging. The allies have been driving the bolshevik south from Archangel, and a new government has been established in that city embracing half a dozen districts. Volunteer detachments of White guards are assisting the allies. M. I. Terestchenko, minister of foreign affairs in Kerensky's cabinet, has been assassinated in Poltava.

Seemingly not yet quite satisfied that Zeppelins as raiders are a failure, the Germans sent a fleet of five of these monsters across to raid England last week. Their coming was signaled and they were attacked by the British air defense before they could reach the coast. One of them was shot down in flames over the sea. Its commander, the noted Captain Strasser, and all the crew perished. The other airships fled.

The submarine pirates continued their depredations in the western Atlantic, torpedoing a number of merchant ships and fishing boats and sinking the Diamond Shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras. This last-mentioned exploit may be part of a set plan of destroying important navigation signals in order to hamper shipping. The doings of the U-boats, however, no longer cause the allies extreme anxiety, for it is evident they are on the decline. Addressing the house of commons, Premier Lloyd George said 150 submarines had been sunk by the British navy, and the British admiralty announces the output of merchant ships by the allies and neutral nations for the three months ending June 30 exceeded the losses from all causes by 296,690 gross tons. The American yards are now turning out vessels with extraordinary rapidity. The launching of the first one from the great government yard at Hog Island was attended by President and Mrs. Wilson.

Our war department's army program was partly revealed to the senate committee on military affairs by General March, chief of staff, when he appeared before it to urge all possible haste in passing the bill extending the draft age limits to eighteen and forty-five years. Concisely stated, the program is as follows:

Ninety-eight divisions—3,020,000 men—to make up troops obtained under existing law.

Eighty divisions—3,200,000 men—to be sent to France.

Eighteen divisions—720,000 men—to be held in reserve in the United States while additional recruits are being trained.

An army when completed of 5,000,000 men, minimum strength.

Troop movement to France at the rate of 250,000 men a month until cold weather sets in, meaning over 1,000,000 more men abroad before the first of the year.

An expeditionary force of almost 2,500,000 men in France by January 1.

General March told the committee the United States can end the war by getting 4,000,000 trained troops, fully equipped, into France, and he intimated that Marshal Foch is only awaiting the arrival of the Americans in full strength to hurl the entire united military strength of the allies at the Huns on the western front. This tremendous blow, he intimated, was due to fall next spring. The chief of staff said he did not believe it would be necessary to send the eighteen-year-old class to the firing line, but that the government wants these young men trained and in readiness. He said it would be satisfactory if the bill were passed immediately after congress resumes the transaction of business on August 28. Some of the senators believed quicker action would be advisable. Chairman Dent of the house military affairs committee, clinging to the anti and ante-war ideas that always have animated his actions, shows no desire to have the bill considered by his committee in time for early passage. It was stated that the sensible members of the committee, headed by Representative Kahn, probably would have to take charge of the measure. Why the small-minded Dent is not ousted from his chairmanship of this most important committee remains one of the mysteries. Other men connected with the administration and the government, who were pacifists and small army and navy advocates, have seen the error of their ways long since and are doing everything in their power to help win the war, but no such light illuminates the dense mind of Dent.

The house ways and means committee is still busy with the next revenue measure. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has informed Chairman Kitchin that he is strongly in favor of a flat war profits tax of 50 per cent, which he believes would render unnecessary any increase in the existing excess profits tax rate, and would also be found the only way to reach real war profiteering. The committee has agreed upon a section that would call on the president to pay a tax of $24,000 as his part of the country's financial war burden and under which the Supreme court justices, all federal judges and all state officers would be taxed. "There is a great sentiment all over the country," said Mr. Kitchin, "that no one should be exempted from taxation." In which Mr. Kitchin speaks the exact truth.

The federal trade commission has recommended that the government take control of all the principal stockyards, cold storage plants and warehouses and of refrigerator and cattle cars, in order to destroy the monopoly which it declares is exercised by Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Morris & Co., Wilson & Co., Inc., and the Cudahy Packing company. The commission accuses these concerns of illegally and oppressively controlling and manipulating the meat and other food supplies of the nation, and of profiteering.

Fox, who has been serving Uncle Sam at Chillicothe, Ohio, spent last week with home folks here. W. B. Angelo, Dr. L. P. Pasternacki and John H. Finch of Stevens Point were Plainfield visitors Tuesday of last week. The Baker-Upham Lumber Co. has built a fine new addition to their office near the depot and will use it for a display and storeroom. Word from Venatche, Mich., last week, stated that Mitchell Quimby, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Quimby, was very dangerously ill in a hospital at that place. Earl J. Patton attended a six o'clock dinner given at the Geo. Fish home in Hancock Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barton, who left Monday for their new home at Endeavor. About 30 guests were entertained and a most enjoyable evening spent. It is with sorrow we report the death of Vernon Staples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jule Staples, recently proprietors at Hotel Mitchell but now of Stevens Point, who died in France on July 23, 1918, from wounds sustained in battle. The deceased enlisted last winter and about three months ago sailed for France. The sympathy of all goes out to them in their hour of sorrow and loss.

KNOWLTON

J. Sullivan was here from Milwaukee Monday on business. J. Feit is here from Milladore for a visit at his son, A. Feit's home. Mrs. Elizabeth Cronk of Milwaukee is visiting Mrs. L. Breitenstein. E. Marrell of Grand Rapids was a Sunday guest at the L. Breitenstein home. Alex. Merklein arrived Monday night from Wausau to remain several days with T. R. Guenther.

MEEHAN

Max Wirth of Stevens Point was a business caller in town Monday. Our town chairman, D. H. Parks, spent a couple of days at Madison last week on official business. The leaf hopper has put in its appearance here in great numbers and is doing lots of damage to potatoes, especially the early fields. The circus at Stevens Point last Thursday attracted quite a number of our citizens to that place. All seemed to enjoy it very much. Cline Cradle of Stevens Point came down Tuesday to look after his farming interests and spend a little time among old neighbors. George Fox is another one of the Meehan lads to enter Uncle Sam's service. He recently enlisted and expects to leave this week for the training camp. Orrin Clendenning started up his threshing machine last week. Grain of all kinds is good here this year. Winter rye is without doubt the best ever grown. There are several severe cases of whooping cough in this vicinity. The health officers are watching it very closely and will undoubtedly close the school owing to the prevalence of the epidemic. Those who are raising cucumbers this year are kept pretty busy just now keeping them picked. The weather has been favorable and they are producing abundantly. Most of them are shipped to the Alart & McGuire Co. at Grand Rapids. Clam fishing is the most interesting industry here just now. There are 25 to 30 boats on the Wisconsin river a good share of the time and they all seem to get lots of clams. The price of the shells is good and the work pleasant, consequently there is quite a rush in the business.

YOUNG LIFE ENDED

Miss Helen Lukasavitz, Esteemed Resident of Custer, Passed Away Last Wednesday

News of the death of Miss Helen Lukasavitz of Custer will be read with regret by hundreds of friends throughout the county. She had been in feeble health for over a year, having been confined constantly to her bed for the past ten months. Everything was done for her that could be done but to no avail. She steadily lost strength until the afternoon of 2 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 13.

Miss Helen was born in Berlin, Wis., on May 18, 1892. She moved to Custer with her parents at the age of three years, residing here for five years. They then moved to Custer, where she had been the family home ever since.

At the age of thirteen years she became the proprietor of the American telephone company exchange at Custer, which position she held until she was killed by a car on the street.

She then worked in the telephone store until compelled to give up on account of failing health.

In the death of this true, cheerful young lady, an exemption of life has passed to its reward. She was the possessor of a beautiful character, one who was happy, smiling and gentle words endeared her to all. To know her was to love her.

She endured her long illness with remarkable patience and fortitude, never complaining, and always cheerful and interested in the affairs of her friends and keeping well posted on current events.

Her taking away will be felt as a great loss by the whole community and particularly the family and mother, to whom she was ever a most loving and close companion.

Besides the sorrowing parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lukasavitz, there are left to mourn three sisters and six brothers. They are Felix J. of Custer and Barney, Florence, Bridget, Raymond, Hilary, Jerome, Stanley and Harriette, all at home.

The funeral was held at Sacred Heart church, Polonia, on Saturday at 10 o'clock. Solemn requiem mass was offered up by Rev. L. J. Pescinski of Polonia, assisted by Rev. Chylinski of Fancher as deacon and Rev. J. A. Bartelme of Custer as sub-deacon.

Father Pescinski also gave a short but impressive talk. The pallbearers were John Lepinski, Alex Jyewski, Robert and Michael O'Keefe, Stanley Pliska and Antoni Czarnecki. The flower girls were six friends of the deceased, the Misses Susie Bronk, Maletta Kluck, Clara Cauley, Della Pliska, Alice Waldoch and Eugenia Krutinski. As typical of the purity of the life of the deceased girl a wreath and veil was borne on a white satin pillow, ahead of the casket, by Joseph Pliska. The streamers were carried by three little girls, Loretta and Sally Zblewski and Evelyn Bigus.

The esteem and respect in which the deceased was held was shown by the large number of friends that gathered at the home to accompany the remains to their last resting place. The funeral procession was one of the longest ever seen at the Polonia church, there being 95 cars and forty-two carriages in line.

Those from away who attended the funeral were: Mrs. Julius Dopke, grandmother of the deceased; Frank Dopke, Mrs. John Bruski and daughter, Miss Laura, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bronk, all of Berlin; Mrs. Jessie Bronk and Theodore Seelman of Rhinelander; Stanley Lukasavitz of Chicago; Mrs. Nick Platta of Hatley; Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Somers, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Iverson and Mr. and Mrs. John Gornowicz, Mrs. J. J. Bukolt and daughter, Miss Tillie, Michael Lukasavitz, Mrs. L. Esker, Mrs. Anna Okray, Mrs. Frank Kolinski and son Felix, Mr. and Mrs. John P. O'Keefe and the Misses Frances and Ella Lukasavitz and Sophia Pasternacki of this city.

The floral offerings included the following: Gladiolas and roses, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Budzinski; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Herkowski; sweet peas and ferns, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Leary; cut flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gblewski; red and white gladiolas, Mr. and Mrs. Antoni Peysa; gladiolas, Mrs. Anton Bigus; gladiolas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Planting home gardens, producing more food, and saving food are all war-time efforts of this government in which the women of America have co-operated loyally. We are all in the home army; the home army here must help the fighting forces and home armies over there; 120 million Allies must eat.

WORLD SHORTAGE IN BEET SUGAR

Crops Are 40 Per Cent. Less Than Pre-War Average—Central Powers Hit Hardest.

CANE SUGAR IS ISOLATED.

Allied Beet Production Falls One-third in Rigid War Economy Practiced.

The world today is producing forty per cent. less beet sugar than the pre-war average.

Counting the American, Allied and German-Austrian crops, as well as the neutrals, the U. S. Food Administration has estimated that the world shortage created by the light crop of 1917-1918 is at least three and a half million tons.

That the 1917-1918 crop of cane sugar was two million tons in excess of the previous year does not relieve the general shortage.

Cuba and Java produce one-half of the world cane crop, and the Java sugar is too far removed from America to transport when shipping is badly needed to transport and maintain the military forces in France.

In Java a large part of the old sugar crop is still awaiting shipment. Since it requires 150 to 160 days for each boat that is sent to Java, the possibilities of obtaining adequate shipments of Java sugar this season are remote.

Allied Production Falls. Taking the Allied nations as a group, official reports show that beet sugar production is less by one-third than the pre-war average.

French beet sugar industry has suffered most by the war. The French yield of beet sugar is now only 291 per cent. of the pre-war average.

For the five years preceding the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, France produced an average of 752,542 tons of sugar each year. For 1917-18 the French production was 219,416 tons.

With 61 factories operating, as compared with more than 200 that were in existence before the war and before the general campaign of destructions launched by the German armies, France nevertheless managed to manufacture more beet sugar in 1917-18 than in 1916-17, when the total output was 202,415 tons.

Italy in 1917-18 produced 100,000 tons of beet sugar, which was 56,000 tons less than the previous year and 11,250 less than the annual output of 1917 for the five year pre-war period.

One of the great difficulties experienced in Italy's beet sugar industry was finding sufficient labor to handle the crop. Thousands of men usually employed in beet sugar production were called for military service. The yield per acre amounted to "approximately half of the usual quantity of beets harvested."

[Ships & Sugar]

OVER 75 per cent. of the sugar used in the United States is delivered by ships. There is produced about 800,000 tons of beet sugar and 250,000 tons of cane sugar in Louisiana. The total consumption of the United States is about 4,500,000 tons of raw sugar, which makes about 4,250,000 tons of refined sugar.

If our coasts were blockaded as Germany's now are, we would have available for the use of the people of the United States only one pound of sugar for every four we use. Under such circumstances there is no doubt that the American people would get along on this limited supply without complaint.

The United States Food Administration is asking every American household to use not more than two pounds of sugar per person each month for domestic use. Reducing our sugar consumption here means that we will be able to help supply the needs of France, England and Italy. Sugar conservation on the American table also means conservation of ships.

The Army and Navy have sent out an "S. O. S." call for ships. "Save Our Ships to Transport Troops and Munitions to France, in order that we may keep the fighting front where it now is and not allow it to extend to our own homes," is the message.

There is ample sugar in the world for all requirements—in fact, there is a large surplus, but on account of the ship shortage it is not available for use in this country.

Java, which produces 15 per cent. of the world's cane crop, is too far removed. It requires 150 to 160 days for a ship to go to Java and return.

ONE SPOON, PLEASE.

Make one spoon of sugar
Do the work of two.
Keep the program going
Until the war is through.

LAST WORDS OF GREAT MEN

Notable Utterances That Have Been Accepted by the World as More or Less Authentic.

First words of human beings everywhere are as much alike in their significance as are in the essentials of dependence and trustfulness the infants who stammer them. Last words differ as greatly in purport as do their utterers in age, experience, environment, intellect and character. Of the many "dying sentences" that have passed into the category of familiar quotations it is, of course, impossible always to separate the apocryphal from the real. To attempt such a division would not be worth the pains; it is better to take on trust the plausible and the fairly authentic. Some of these are the deliberate speeches of those in full possession of bodily strength but about to suffer execution. Such are Sir Thomas More's adjuration as he faced the scaffold, "See me safe up—for my coming down I can shift for myself." Sir Walter Raleigh's reflection on the axe, "Tis a sharp remedy but a sure one for all ills." Madame Roland's "O Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!" and Nathan Hale's "I only regret that I have but one life to give for my country." Other "last words" embody a dying effort at coherence or are merely the murmurs of delirium. Two famous forewells are attributed to Rabelais—"Draw the curtain, the farce is ended," and "I am going to seek a great perhaps." Goethe's plea, which the world has refused to take as spoken literally, for "Light! more light!" has a more modern counterpart in Tennyson's enigmatic "I have opened it," perhaps referring to the volume of Shakespeare at his side but susceptible also of esoteric interpretation.

HOME OF CEREALS UNKNOWN

History Has No Record of Where Most Important Human Food Had Its Origin.

The origin of wheat is lost in hoary antiquity. Even the original home of the cereal plants of which bread is being made is not known, all the researches and hypotheses notwithstanding. Where wheat, spelt, rye, barley, oats, buckwheat, etc., first offered man their grainy ears for good is an unsolved problem. But that originally bread was not roasted or baked, but eaten as dough or paste, may be inferred from its relation with the word "broth," both of these words being derived from the root "breowan," "bru," to brew. In all probability it was originally the boiled coarse meal with nothing added to it but salt. The leavening and baking of the bread was a later development. The origin of these processes is a matter of speculation; but so much is certain that baking preceded the leavening of the bread that causes it to rise; also that the original form of the bread was not the loaf, but a kind of thin, flat cake like the matzoths, or unleavened bread of the Jews, or the tortillas of the Mexicans. Like these, it was probably roasted upon intensely heated flat stones.

With the discovery of the leaven the flat cake increased in height until it assumed the form of our loaf.

Proper Locomotive Signals.

Experiments conducted by the Southern Pacific railroad to find the most efficient means of handling the locomotive whistle show the average motorist or pedestrian is familiar with the standard crossing signal—two long and two short blasts—and that, unless the signal is given just so, he is apt to dispute priority right to a crossing. Superintendent T. Ahern, in a letter to engineers, says: "Extensive tests show that a whistle call for a station signal should never be less than five seconds, the long blasts of the crossing signal, two and a half seconds, and the short ones, one second. Particular care should be exercised to cut off the blasts sharply and not to slur them. It is of the utmost importance in causing sound to travel that these instructions be carried out."

Eastern Folklore Character.

A character in folklore with whom the Occidental world has only slightly familiarized itself is Nasr-ed-din-Hodja, the Turkish Till Eulenspiegel. Finally the Hodja, holy man, as he is known, draws his descent from Aesop; but during the course of centuries his nature became somewhat changed. From the wise man he was transformed, gradually, into the simple buccolic fool, who, in spite of his folly, has certain very winning traits. As a rule, however, poor Nasr-ed-din gets the worst of every deal he is mixed up in, as has his unfortunate and muddled race. Only every now and then does tradition allow him to come off victor in an intellectual encounter.

Appreciated British Oysters.

As early as 50 B. C. the fame of the British oyster had extended as far as Rome, and Sallust seems to have been more impressed by the oyster than by any other feature of the country, for he wrote: "The poor Britons—there is some good in them, after all—they produce an oyster." In 80 A. D. oysters were exported from the Thames estuary to Rome, and ever since that time England has had an oyster industry of respectable proportions, although for many years the supply has been inadequate to fill London's gigantic demands, and importations from the United States, Holland and France have been necessary.

POINT WINS

The ball game played here last Sunday, Aug. 11, between Stevens Point and Grand Rapids ended in a victory for the local team. The score was 9 to 5. The victory was due to the stellar box work of Hubbard, who did the hurling for the local nine. He struck out eight to his opponent's four. This is the second time the teams have met. August 4 the Rapids defeated the locals 5 to 0 at the Rapids.

Next Sunday, Aug. 18, the local team will play the strong Co. M team of the local State Guards. The Guards' lineup will be the same as at Camp Douglas, when they made such an excellent showing against the other teams down here.

The batteries will be: State Guards—Zorn and Hurrish; City team—Hubbard and Vrobel.

The proceeds of the game will go to the Red Cross.

OPPORTUNITY OFFERED

Preliminary Training Course For Nurses to be Established at Stevens Point Normal

At the recent annual meeting of the Board of Normal Regents a resolution was adopted authorizing the establishment in the Wisconsin Normal schools of courses for the preliminary training of nurses.

This is in line with the attitude of the Board of Normal Regents, which is to make the Normal schools in every sense the people's schools, and to utilize them in every way to advance the social welfare and moral and physical good of our country.

The Stevens Point Normal always responds gladly to any call to provide the public interest, and will offer a one year preliminary course of training for nurses beginning September 16, 1918. This course will be a thorough and scientific one equal to as offered anywhere in Wisconsin.

The Stevens Point Normal with its superb home economics department and home economics faculty and its fine equipment and faculty in biology and chemistry and other subjects in the nurses' course, is exceptionally well fitted to offer such a course.

It is hoped that this year's training will be accepted by the hospital training schools and one year's credit given. This course offers a splendid opportunity to the young women of central Wisconsin who feel the call of duty who realize the terrible and growing need for nurses, and yet cannot very well go far away to school, an opportunity to begin their training as nurses right at home.

RETURNED FROM GREEN BAY

Miss Genevieve Rowe has returned from a two weeks' visit at Green Bay. She was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. E. W. Maddy, who will visit here.

ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

There has been a natural change for the better in the condition of Mrs. A. M. Green, 319 Dixie street, who was dangerously ill last week. She is now considered out of danger. For a period of twenty-four hours her case was considered almost hopeless, but she began to rally on Thursday and is now gaining steadily.
